Infiniscope Teaching Network Off To A Great Start At National Science Teachers Association Conference

The NASA Exploration Connection team shared the Infiniscope Education Portal at the National Science Teachers Association Conference in Los Angeles earlier this month

The number of teachers signing up for the Infiniscope Teaching Network exceeded expectations

Educators were surveyed about hard to teach concepts to help drive future development of lessons

Response from teachers was very enthusiastic due to the education portal's:

- Free and open availability
- Delivery via Web Browser (no download)
- Prepared formal & informal lesson plans
- Alignment to multiple types of science standards
- Endorsement by NASA Wavelength & EXPRESS
- Engaging way for their students to learn hard concepts using NASA data
