Infiniscope Digital Teaching Network WOWs Teachers at National Science Teacher Association Conference

More than 300 science teachers were excited to learn about and join the Infiniscope Digital Teaching Network. This represents a growth in interest of approximately 300% compared to the number of teachers recruited at NSTA last year.

In talking with these science teachers, they were enthusiastic about Infiniscope because it offers STEM-focused activities that are:

- Developed to be authentic using NASA data and subject matter experts;
- Customizable to the needs of their individual audiences;
- Aligned to the standards they need to cover;
- Designed for individualized learning by filling knowledge gaps and/or correcting misconceptions.
